The full story of the fifth column, which Secretary the Navy Frank Knox described as the most effective sin Norway, probably cannot be told until official inquiries have been completed.

But, during my recent visit to Honolulu, I learned:

1—That big arrows, pointing to military objectives, were reported to have been were reported to have been cut in the sugar cane on plantations in the islands a few hours before the Japanese struck.

2—That a Japanese who

Facts To Aid Other Allied People

This is not intended as in indictment of all Japanese in Honolula. On the whole they were industrious, dependable and well behaved. But enough of them were fifth columnists to make the attack successful.

Facts, if presented to the Allied people now, may help put them on the alert in other potential areas of danger. Here is the situation on the week-end of the attack:

War Breaks Up Bare-Kneed Game

HALIFAN, Dec. 30.—(CP)—Cauadian rugby is shortly taking its place in the Maritime provinces and Coach Burnett Relation of Daihousis University believes it's only a matter of a few years before the Canadian guale is the down-eart's major fall sport.

Three years ago, it would have been impossible for anyone interested to have seen a game of Canadian rugby on any playing field in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island. Now, says Ralston "there's hardly a high school in Nova Scotia that hasn't switched from rugger to the Canadian guae."

For the simple reason that some Canadian guae.

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

THE ONE-LEGGED TEMPLE: The Chua-Mot-Cot, or Pagoda of the Single Pile, bull by King Ly Thai Tom in 1049 as a result of a dream, in which he saw a one 'eg-Kuan Yin. He had one of his own legs amputated, married a one-legged queen, unuded himself with one-legged courtlers, and built this one-legged pagoda, which is on a stone column within a square body of water. On account of its resement to the lottus, native poets often compare the temple to a single-stemmed lottus

The Guns Of Canada - Some Of The Ten Types Now In Production Here Hundreds Of Factories Across Dominion Are Fully Mobilized For War •

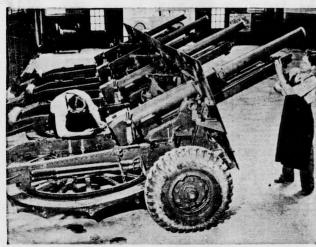

Before the war Canada manufactured no guns. Today it is one of the most important contributors to the artillery of freedom. These Canadian-made twelve-pounder guns will help protect the Empire's merchant shipping.

Quantity production is now under way on the two-pounder anti-tank gun. There are 500 parts in each of these weapons and their manufacture requires a high degree of skill. The gun, which costs close to $7,500, fires an armour-piercing shell designed to rip into the interior of a tank or destroy its metal tracks. More than 2,000 workmen are employed in the two plants producing them.

Twenty-five pounder field guns of the most modern turned out at an average rate of fifty per month. The design are being produced at the big plant of Sorei complete process—from scrap iron to finishiste gun—like the process of the Capable of firing 135 40-mm shells a minute the Bofors light anti-aircraft gun is a formidable weapon. It has 2,000 individual parts and is made, complete with mounting, in one piant. The Bofors hurs is shell to an attitude of 20,000 feet.

Mountings of two-pounder anti-aircraft pom-pom guns are being made in Canada. The gun itself will be ready for production at the beginning of the year.

Canada builds two-inch and three-inch frenca mortars as well as such small atms as Bren and Browning machine guns and Lee-Enfield rifles. These photos were made by Harry Rowed, staff photographer of Public Information.
